

who was every man's friend, a member of the original Flamingo Sextette, rushed up to him, threw her arms around him and sobbed.

"I'll stand by you, Harry," she said.

In the car that arrived was Police- man Debes of the West Thirtieth sta- tion, who had heard the shooting, and the cries of the audience, and Thaw was taken by him at once to the Po- lice Station.

There were several stories of what Thaw did after firing the shot, but a number of men agreed that he had said:

"That woman again—will never go with that woman again."

To Police- man Debes at the Garden he said:

"Well, damn him, he deserved it."

Once in the Police Station, Thaw had apparently recovered himself, and had been taken to the sergeant's desk, in easy pose, his overcoat hanging over his left arm, he first calmly took out a cigarette, and lit it.

WOULD CONCEAL IDENTITY.

Answering the usual questions as to name, address, etc., he said he was "J. Smith, 25 years old, a student, of 33 Lafayette place, Washington, D. C."

When searched, his identity was confirmed. In his card case were cards engraved with his name: "Henry Kendall Thaw."

He had $20 in cash. Refusing to say a word about the shooting, and asking that his lawyers, Louis A. DeLoe and Frederick Longfellow, be notified, he puffed his cigarette and was taken back and locked in a cell. The charge against him is murder.

At Mr. White's residence it was said tonight that the shooting was being held in the West, and was expected to return Saturday. Mr. White dined with his son, Lawrence, who returned earlier in the day from Har- vard to pass the summer vacation at home.

"WELL, HE RUINED MY WIFE."

Mystery still surrounds the cause of the tragedy, but the situation may be found in the words attributed to Thaw immediately after the shooting: "Well, he ruined my wife, and I got him."

It is known that for years bitter en- mity had existed between White and Thaw on account of the former's at- tendance to Thaw's wife, which had begun prior to her marriage.

Mrs. Thaw disappeared in the excite- ment, while her husband was being taken to the station, and up to a late hour tonight could not be found.

On the way to the police station, Po- lice- man Debes said Thaw expressed great gratification over the killing.

"I am glad I shot him," he said. "I am glad I did a good job of it. That man has ruined my wife—then dropping his voice."

Debes said Thaw uttered something that sounded like "wife" or "life." An- other word was not spoken by Thaw.

Coroner Dooley arrived early, and began to examine the witness.

DEAD MAN ABUSED BY SLAYER AT THE POLICE STATION.

He Tells How His Wife Sent Him a Note Which Read: "The Dirty Blackguard is Here"—Declares That White Made Motion to Attack Him in Cafe.

NEW YORK, June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "I saw that damned scoundrel sitting there, big, fat and healthy, and there she was, all trembling and nervous."

This was Harry Thaw's response to a Times reporter in the West Thirtieth- street station, when he was asked why he had shot White.

"We were all at a party in Martins," Thaw said. "You can find out the names of the others there, but I was sitting some distance from my wife. Suddenly I saw her get very pale and begin to shiver, and I thought she was ill. I made a motion to inquire what was the matter, and she called a waiter and wrote a note, which she sent around the table to me. The note said: 'The dirty blackguard is here.' Then I turned and saw that fat scoundrel sitting there, big and healthy, and then I saw her and how she was."

Thaw would not add a word to this and only asked that his lawyers, Fred Longfellow and Fred DeLoe, be summoned by phone.

WHITE A GENIUS AS ARCHITECT.

HIS LOFTY IDEALS WON HIM WORLD-WIDE FAME.

Career as Designer of Great Structures of Most Classic Style Was Never Before Equalled on Globe.

NEW YORK, June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Stanford White was born in New York City on November 3, 1853. He was educated at the University of New York, where he was graduated as master of arts. At an early age his remarkable artistic gifts having man- ifested themselves, he was given the advantage of the highest possible training, and studied architecture with Charles D. Gamble and H. H. Richardson.

When Richardson planned and ex- ecuted the famous Trinity Church, in Boston, Stanford White was selected as his chief assistant in the work. De- ciding then that the time was ripe for his artistic education, which Europe alone can supply, he went abroad in 1878, where he remained for two years, studying and observing with a critical eye the masterpieces of art in France and Italy.

FIRM HAD HIGH PLACE.

Returning to New York, he then be- gan a career that never has been equalled from both an artistic and financial standpoint, by any modern architect. In 1881 the firm of McKim, Meade & White was formed, which has uninterruptedly grown from its incep- tion to a position of national impor- tance. There is hardly a city that does not boast at least one building designed by this firm, the guiding spirit in which in all its lofty artistic ideals was the mind of Stanford White.

All his creations carry with them an individuality so strong that even a layman can often point out an example among a score of other designs. Pus- sue longer a sense of beauty that en- abled him to instantly grasp the possibilities of a new suggestion, great or small, the amount of work of which he was capable was the despair of ev- ery man with whom he came into busi- ness relations.

WAS LOVABLE MAN.

White could accomplish his greatest duties on apparently three or four hours' sleep, and in addition to all of his vast enterprise he was known over Europe and America as the most pa- tionable and lovable man of his time. Cultivated, gifted in practically all the arts, he took with him where- ever he went that extraordinary love of fun and bohemian jollity that dis- tinguished him to the end and that made his society sought and prized in every branch of society. Men and women often asked how he did it and he al- ways said art is not a recluse.

SPEAKS OF HIS ART.

"The nearer the artist approaches to the best standards of the best work of his day the closer he gets," said Stanford White, "to the fulfillment of the highest art." If, then, any unusual social function was planned, the first person to be consulted was Stanford White.

Since 1881 the firm of McKim, Meade & White designed, among other structures, Madison Square Garden, the Century and Metropolitan clubs, the University of New York, the Wash- ington Arch, the University of Vir- ginia and the pedestals for the prin- cipal statues of St. Gaudens, the scul- ptor.

MEMBER OF MANY CLUBS.

White was a member of the Muni- cipal Society, New York Botanical Garden Society, Metropolitan Museum of Art, Zoological Society, University Club, the Racquet, Kismet, Players, Century, Manhattan, New York Yacht, Union Knickerbocker and the Adir- onack League clubs, and the American Fine Arts Society. He was also vice- president of the Madison Square Gar- den.

WHITE'S LAST TRAVELS.

It developed later that Mr. White, with his son Lawrence and a chum of the latter, Leroy King, recently grad- uated from Harvard, had dined on the terrace of Martin's at Broadway and Twenty-sixth street, while Thaw's party was at dinner inside. The White party went to the New Amsterdam roof, where Mr. White, Jr., left the young men. He then went to the Man- hattan Club and after a few minutes, to the roof garden.

White lived in one of the apartment's towers and it is supposed he stopped after a few minutes to see the new show before retiring for the night.

Evelyn Nesbit, who became Thaw's wife April 4, 1885, was a flower girl in "The Tenth Muse" company. They were married in Pittsburgh by Rev. Dr. William E. McEwan of the Third Pres- byterian Church. Thaw's mother, Mrs. William Thaw, in spite of earlier op- position, was present. Mrs. Thaw is the daughter of C. J. Holman of Oak- land, a suburb of Pittsburgh.

ENEMIES OF RIVER BILL TACK ON JOKER.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, June 2.—[Ex- clusive Dispatch.] There was a stormy scene in the House Public Lands Committee today during the hearing on the Flint-McLachlan bill. Trouble arose over the provision in the bill that Los Angeles should use water from Owens River for domestic purposes only and not irrigating.

McLachlan discovered the provision and stated that it was not there when the bill was discussed with Secretary Hitchcock.

Smith asked if he was accused of putting in the provision.

"I mention no names," McLachlan replied, "but you were the only person who would mention that propo- sition."

McLachlan and Smith clashed also over the latter's speech. Smith talked for an hour in opposition to the bill, and then McLachlan took him to task.

He said Smith approved of the bill before Secretary Hitchcock and agreed to support it, but now he was opposing it.

Smith entered a denial saying he was only explaining his position.

This did not satisfy McLachlan, who insisted that Smith had played double.

The President came to the bill's rescue this afternoon. Chairman Lacey of the committee presented a letter from the President to Secretary Hitchcock saying that the provision limiting the water for Los Angeles to domestic uses was unreasonable and that his position upon it was untenable and that his objection to valid- ity of use of water by the city must cease.

This letter was written as the re- sult of Senator Flint's visit to the White House at the close of the morning session. By that time a conclu- sion had been reached that Hitchcock had put a limitation in the bill, and it

WASHINGTON, June 2.—[Ex- clusive Dispatch.] There was a stormy scene in the House Public Lands Committee today during the hearing on the Flint-McLachlan bill. Trouble arose over the provision in the bill that Los Angeles should use water from Owens River for domestic purposes only and not irrigating.

McLachlan discovered the provision and stated that it was not there when the bill was discussed with Secretary Hitchcock.

Smith asked if he was accused of putting in the provision.

"I mention no names," McLachlan replied, "but you were the only person who would mention that propo- sition."

McLachlan and Smith clashed also over the latter's speech. Smith talked for an hour in opposition to the bill, and then McLachlan took him to task.

He said Smith approved of the bill before Secretary Hitchcock and agreed to support it, but now he was opposing it.

Smith entered a denial saying he was only explaining his position.

This did not satisfy McLachlan, who insisted that Smith had played double.

The President came to the bill's rescue this afternoon. Chairman Lacey of the committee presented a letter from the President to Secretary Hitchcock saying that the provision limiting the water for Los Angeles to domestic uses was unreasonable and that his position upon it was untenable and that his objection to valid- ity of use of water by the city must cease.

This letter was written as the re- sult of Senator Flint's visit to the White House at the close of the morning session. By that time a conclu- sion had been reached that Hitchcock had put a limitation in the bill, and it

WHITE A GENIUS AS ARCHITECT.

HIS LOFTY IDEALS WON HIM WORLD-WIDE FAME.

Career as Designer of Great Structures of Most Classic Style Was Never Before Equalled on Globe.

NEW YORK, June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Stanford White was born in New York City on November 3, 1853. He was educated at the University of New York, where he was graduated as master of arts. At an early age his remarkable artistic gifts having man- ifested themselves, he was given the advantage of the highest possible training, and studied architecture with Charles D. Gamble and H. H. Richardson.

When Richardson planned and ex- ecuted the famous Trinity Church, in Boston, Stanford White was selected as his chief assistant in the work. De- ciding then that the time was ripe for his artistic education, which Europe alone can supply, he went abroad in 1878, where he remained for two years, studying and observing with a critical eye the masterpieces of art in France and Italy.

FIRM HAD HIGH PLACE.

Returning to New York, he then be- gan a career that never has been equalled from both an artistic and financial standpoint, by any modern architect. In 1881 the firm of McKim, Meade & White was formed, which has uninterruptedly grown from its incep- tion to a position of national impor- tance. There is hardly a city that does not boast at least one building designed by this firm, the guiding spirit in which in all its lofty artistic ideals was the mind of Stanford White.

All his creations carry with them an individuality so strong that even a layman can often point out an example among a score of other designs. Pus- sue longer a sense of beauty that en- abled him to instantly grasp the possibilities of a new suggestion, great or small, the amount of work of which he was capable was the despair of ev- ery man with whom he came into busi- ness relations.

WAS LOVABLE MAN.

White could accomplish his greatest duties on apparently three or four hours' sleep, and in addition to all of his vast enterprise he was known over Europe and America as the most pa- tionable and lovable man of his time. Cultivated, gifted in practically all the arts, he took with him where- ever he went that extraordinary love of fun and bohemian jollity that dis- tinguished him to the end and that made his society sought and prized in every branch of society. Men and women often asked how he did it and he al- ways said art is not a recluse.

SPEAKS OF HIS ART.

"The nearer the artist approaches to the best standards of the best work of his day the closer he gets," said Stanford White, "to the fulfillment of the highest art." If, then, any unusual social function was planned, the first person to be consulted was Stanford White.

Since 1881 the firm of McKim, Meade & White designed, among other structures, Madison Square Garden, the Century and Metropolitan clubs, the University of New York, the Wash- ington Arch, the University of Vir- ginia and the pedestals for the prin- cipal statues of St. Gaudens, the scul- ptor.

MEMBER OF MANY CLUBS.

White was a member of the Muni- cipal Society, New York Botanical Garden Society, Metropolitan Museum of Art, Zoological Society, University Club, the Racquet, Kismet, Players, Century, Manhattan, New York Yacht, Union Knickerbocker and the Adir- onack League clubs, and the American Fine Arts Society. He was also vice- president of the Madison Square Gar- den.

WHITE'S LAST TRAVELS.

It developed later that Mr. White, with his son Lawrence and a chum of the latter, Leroy King, recently grad- uated from Harvard, had dined on the terrace of Martin's at Broadway and Twenty-sixth street, while Thaw's party was at dinner inside. The White party went to the New Amsterdam roof, where Mr. White, Jr., left the young men. He then went to the Man- hattan Club and after a few minutes, to the roof garden.

White lived in one of the apartment's towers and it is supposed he stopped after a few minutes to see the new show before retiring for the night.

Evelyn Nesbit, who became Thaw's wife April 4, 1885, was a flower girl in "The Tenth Muse" company. They were married in Pittsburgh by Rev. Dr. William E. McEwan of the Third Pres- byterian Church. Thaw's mother, Mrs. William Thaw, in spite of earlier op- position, was present. Mrs. Thaw is the daughter of C. J. Holman of Oak- land, a suburb of Pittsburgh.

HEIGHT LIMIT STOPS PLANS.

San Francisco Owners All at Sea Over Rule.

Many Changes in Construction Will Result.

Ordinance Will Stop All Class A Buildings.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES: SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—That San Francisco will be a city of class C buildings, if the proposed new building ordinance be put into effect, is the opinion of architects and property owners who oppose the limiting of the height of buildings to one and one-half times the width of the street. If the ordinance be adopted, no class A structure could be more than eight stories in height. As six-story class C structures may be constructed at a cost of two-thirds that of a first-class building of the same size, property owners are not disposed to pay for new cars for the passenger and freight service in California. Harriman has contracted for fifteen passenger cars, four observation smoking cars and fifteen day coaches, for September delivery. Ripley has ordered for the Santa Fe nearly 200 freight and tank cars. These additions to the rolling stock are made necessary by the growing traffic between the East and the Golden State.

the vessels of the German line will run direct to Puget Sound, instead of San Francisco, which has been their terminus for some years for shipping from Europe and Central and South American ports. This means a great loss to the city, for the Kosmos was one of the most important of the steamship lines touching here.

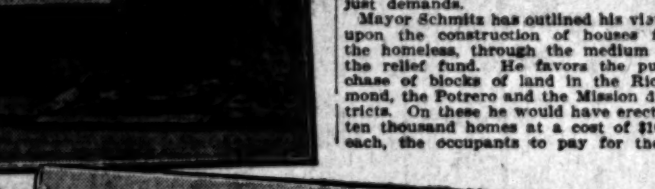

It was first induced to make San Francisco its north coast terminus after great effort upon the part of the Chamber of Commerce and other business organizations. The company has decided that it cannot afford to send

Mayor Schmitz has outlined his views upon the construction of houses for the homeless, through the medium of the relief fund. He favors the purchase of blocks of land in the Richmond, the Potrero and the Mission districts. On these he would have erected ten thousand homes at a cost of $100 each, the occupants to pay for them was offered by the Palace Hotel management offices in the building that is to replace the burned caransary. Col. Kirkpatrick, representing the Sharon estate, said the plans would be so drawn as to provide suitable quarters for the railroad men, and in the meantime temporary offices would be erected within the ruins of the hotel. The railroad men have taken the proposition under advisement, a number of them being favorable to an acceptance.

One of the first reinforced concrete blocks to be erected in the burned area will be the Bride building on Mission street, near Third. The Bride Investment Company, the owner of the site, had accepted the plans for a class A building before the fire. Since then it has had the architects make alterations, providing for the erection of a first-class concrete steel girder building. All of the steel for the building is on hand, having been ordered before the fire, and the foundation is completed. The block will be ready for occupancy in about three months. Its cost will be $75,000.

George W. Whitaker, vice-president of John Bolman & Co., the tobacco manufacturers, has sent word that the company will erect a factory just twice the size of the one that was destroyed. The latter plant was the largest west of the Mississippi. The plans have been prepared, and Whitaker announces that everything about the structure will be California-workmanship, material and equipment. He says that company does not intend to expend one dollar outside of the State in restoring its plant, if it can avoid doing so.

H. Getzels has accepted Architect Arthur T. Ehrenpford's plans for a block of stores, flats and dwelling houses to be built at the corner of Guerrero and Sixteenth streets. There will be seven store buildings, three stories in height, twenty-eight five-room flats, and eight residences. The cost will be $100,000, and work is to be begun on July 1.

NEW CABINET IS ONLY HOPE.

Former Russian Minister Predicts Disaster.

Believes the Moderate Element Should Prevail.

Open Opposition to Parliament Would Be Fatal.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

ST. PETERSBURG, June 25.—The Conservative Centrist party in the Council of the Empire, organized recently with the purpose of attempting to supplant the Gorkymin ministry by a cabinet chosen from the Octobrists, the Democratic Reform and the Constitutional Democratic parties, have joined in the chorus demanding the resignation of the cabinet.

M. Yermoleff, formerly Minister of Agriculture has given out an interview saying the present situation is impossible, and that it is evident that if the actual ministry can do nothing for the pacification of the country, it should be replaced by a cabinet in which the moderate elements of Parliament are given place.

The situation, M. Yermoleff added, is so tense that any attempt of the administration to array itself in open opposition to Parliament can result only in calamity and disaster.

SHREWDS METHODS.
M. Yermoleff, who is a shrewd politician, has now nothing but honeyed words for Parliament, which, though containing revolutionary elements, is the true reflection of the sentiment of the country and evidently he is laying wires and working for action between the majorities of the two houses of Parliament under a responsible ministry.

He is thought to have his eye on his old portfolio in such a cabinet. Though M. Yermoleff and his party, in the programme published today, adhere to nominal opposition to the general principle of appropriation, they consider the necessity of satisfying the land hunger of the peasantry and adopting the idea for the creation of local commissions for the solution of the problem in accordance with local needs, thereby indorsing the principle on which all factions in the lower house—the Constitutional Democrats, the Group of Toil, the Poles and the Conservatives—are tending to concentrate.

WOULD RESTRICT JEWS.
With regard to the Jews, M. Yermoleff believes the Semite question can be settled by the abolishment of the Pale and the granting of equal rights to Jews, but he favors certain restrictions in the purchase of land by Jews, holding that it is necessary to regard the sentiment of the Russian masses which will be alarmed unless this is done.

M. Yermoleff laughed at reports of the dispersal of Parliament, which he says would be fatal to the Semite question. He expressed confidence that the government soon would be striving to effect an understanding with Parliament, should the sentiment of the Centrist party, be formally accepted by the Council of the Empire it would be impossible for Emperor Nicholas to disregard it.

There are indications that Premier Gorkymin is wearying of his position, but the retirement of the cabinet is strictly not a matter of the immediate future.

The reports of the parliamentary commission and Commissioner of the Interior Stolypin, and Representative M. Frisch, on the conditions at Bialystok have borne prompt fruit. Gen. Bader, who as Governor of the province, was accused of laxity in restoring order, has been supported by Gen. Bogachevsky, and the resignation of Gen. Klastor of Grodno has been accepted and the slated promotion of Prefect Shermantsev is said to have been abandoned.

BROUGHT ON TROUBLE.
A member of the Russian Cabinet writes an article in which it is contended that it was the government's indecision and inaction in the autumn of 1904, when it would have been easy to win over the loyal Zemstvo party to cooperate with the government in its work of reform that sowed the seeds of the present trouble.

The delay consequent on this indecision, he says, led to the formation of an alliance of the reform party and a group of terrorists and anarchists—a fatal step which, it is said, strikes the Russian emancipation movement barren for many long years to come, and be fraught with unending calamities to the nation.

The writer proceeds to refer to the great hopes raised by Count Witte's call to power and the subsequent disappointment as to the future because of his vacillation and inconsistency. He complains that Witte, instead of declaring ruthlessness against the revolutionary terrorist party, actually contributed toward fanning the Gordian knot between the modern opposition party and the terrorists tighter than it was before.

EAD MAKE-UP OF PARLIAMENT.
Witte's policy in fact, led to the election of a Parliament of a revolutionary character representative not of the Russian people, but of the stump political lawyer of the population and hence its dissolution is merely a question of time. Dissolution is indispensable not because the provocative Parliamentary debates tend to revolutionize the country, but because the present opposition of the chamber is discrediting to the people.

In conclusion the Minister argues that a return to bureaucratic absolutism is impossible. The tremendous difficulty of the present moment lies in the full recognition of the absolute necessity to remove the worn-out framework of the government by means of real national representation and by enlisting the cooperation of men of the soil even if they are chosen from the present Parliament, the sole condition being that they shall be opposed to unnatural alliances with the revolutionists who must be fought perseveringly and pitilessly.

Judge Wellborn Rules Out Salt Lake Trestle.

Waters of Cerritos Must Be Ever Accessible.

Decision Means Much for the Inner Harbor.

A decision of great importance to the commercial interests of this city and section and one of far-reaching effect with reference to the control of tide lands by transportation corporations was rendered yesterday by Judge Wellborn in the United States Circuit Court. The action of the court is not final, inasmuch as the court is not proceeding to make a final decision in the case, and an appeal to higher courts is practically certain, but the decision is a long step in the direction of forever settling the important questions involved.

The case in which the decision was rendered is that of H. E. Carver and the Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company vs. the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railway Company, in which plaintiff seeks to prevent defendant from maintaining a bridge across Cerritos Slough near Long Beach. When the bridge was built, the defendant company, some months ago, obtained the railroad company's consent to the removal of the bridge in order to permit the passage of a large steam dredge with which the defendant company had been engaged in the marsh district back of Long Beach. It is to be dredged, no information was given of what it intended to do. Once the bridge was removed, the defendant company sought to enjoin the plaintiff from replacing it, claiming that the slough was navigable and that the bridge was a nuisance. The court, upon these contentions that the matter was taken to court and upon them the decision of yesterday was rendered.

Judge Wellborn decides that the Salt Lake Railroad has no right to bridge Cerritos Slough. A temporary injunction will be at once issued restraining them from the construction or maintenance of a bridge. If the decision be sustained on appeal it means the opening up of the back bay country at San Pedro, and the completion of the proposed inner harbor near Long Beach.

When the suit was filed, on March 2 of this year, it occasioned marked comment, as it was plainly a struggle of corporate rights to gain control over what seemed to be navigable waters.

The action was instigated by H. E. Carver and the Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company, which individuals and corporation claimed themselves injured parties. They prayed for the injunction now granted, and stated that in 1901 the Salt Lake Company had erected what was allegedly a temporary bridge, over the slough. Carver had a ship, where he repaired and conducted craft of all sorts. The ocean was denied by the bridge. The defendant company, about March 1, the defendant company, had been engaged in the purpose of widening and generally cleaning the channel; the dredgers offered to build up the bridge in its original state after they had put their machine through, but the complaint says that the railroad would not permit it.

A large number of other things were stated in the complaint. In his opinion Judge Wellborn quotes much law and many instances, and in setting down his own views he observes:

"The uncontradicted evidence, written and oral, adduced on this hearing, shows the following facts: That Cerritos Slough is navigable, that defendant's bridge was built without authority of Congress or the Legislature of California, and obstructs the navigation of said slough, that complainant's own lands situated on said slough, and are engaged in business enterprises dependent upon its navigation, and are suffering from the obstruction of such navigation, and that the bridge, which is a permanent structure, is a nuisance, and that the bridge is a public nuisance, and the first inquiry, purely one of law, is as to the sort of injury which will justify resort to a private person to a court of equity for the abatement of such a nuisance.

"I am not unmindful that it can, with some show of plausibility, be claimed, that from the exception in the Dominguez patent of that portion of the surveyed tract covered by the navigable waters of the inner bay of San Pedro may be inferred an intention to grant all other lands in the tract covered by navigable waters. It is sufficient, however, to say in answer to this claim, that a patent cannot, by inference or implication, pass a title in the bed or shore of a navigable stream, but this can be done only by express words manifesting a specific intent to grant such title.

"There is no escape from the conclusion that, whatever interest, if any, in the shore or bed of Cerritos Slough passed by the Dominguez patent, such interest is subservient to the right of the public in use and the power of the government to control the waters of said slough for purposes of navigation.

"There is another view, which, despite defendant's contention on this point, the constitutional power of Congress over the navigable waters of the United States cannot, of course, be impaired or restricted by the action of any agent or officer of the government, and this unassailable proposition would be absolutely falsified by a holding that the Dominguez patent cedes the government from asserting the navigability of Cerritos Slough, when in fact it is navigable.

"The considerations and authorities stated and cited not only justify, but require a temporary injunction also in favor of the Dock and Terminal Company, whose injuries are greater than those of Carver, and likewise irreparable.

Judge Wellborn's opinion concludes by providing that the defendant be enjoined from erecting a bridge over the slough, and that the defendant be ordered to answer on or before the 10th day of August.

"Meanwhile, a $5000 bond must be given to insure the defendant against possible loss should the suit be decided in the railroad's favor.

G. D. Friable manned the pars, and had no trouble in running the balloons as he wished. He went up about 5 o'clock, when the air was still, and made a fairly verticle ascent until he was 300 or 400 feet above the ground. Then he turned the machine around, and heading for Pasadena, disappeared after a few minutes.

During the course of his journey he came to earth three times, and continued it again. The bag holds only 200 cubic feet of gas, with lifting power at the earth's surface of 150 pounds, but as the operator does not need to throw out ballast or let out gas, he can do things that the ordinary balloon cannot. The wings or cars can be used to exert a pull of fifteen pounds either straight up or down, so that the operator has a working margin of nearly thirty pounds.

Friable looked over the country to the north and south, and he is satisfied that he can beat out the automobile which Capt. Rys is going to race against the airship on July 4.

CAR ACCIDENTS TOO NUMEROUS

Mayor Dunne of Chicago Will Seek Indemnities Against Railway Officials.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.) CHICAGO, June 23.—Indemnities of the presidents and leading officials of the various Chicago traction companies will be sought by Mayor Dunne if immediate and satisfactory explanations are not given him concerning the recent fatalities laid at the door of the street railway corporations.

The Mayor announced last night that he would write an open letter to the traction officials today presenting to them the report of Dr. Doty, superintendent of street car service, who has notified the city executive that within fifty days twenty-one persons have been killed by cars in Chicago.

Mayor Dunne will ask the companies to affirm or deny, and then to explain the charges made by Dr. Doty. He will follow this request with one demanding that the officials account to themselves with their street railway equipment, with the conditions of their lines and the existence or non-existence of proper safeguards and appliances for the protection of their patrons.

When the city executive has received the replies and explanations of the companies he will decide if they are adequate and if there is promise of improved conditions in the future.

If he concludes that the people of Chicago are not to be given greater protection he at once will submit the cases to State's Attorney Healy and ask that the grand jury return indictments not only for the employees of the companies, who generally are placed under arrest, and held into court, but for the presidents of every company included in his "blastings." This list involves all of the important surface lines in Chicago.

ATS off to the girls, for one of them leads out in the great race—Miss Merle Prewitt of Westminster, the Presbyterian preacher's daughter, who has recently come down from the orchards of Lompoc to live in the classic shades of the namesake of England's historical abbey. Merle has a host of friends who are working for her, both in and out of the city. The fact that this bright, sweet girl is physically handicapped lends im-

Grace, and Blake Tantau holds the second boy's place in the roll, with the third boy, Frank Wiggins, next below and tiny Bertha Cohen, the youngest contestant in the race—only 10 years old—following after, with 1175 points to her credit.

BIRTHDAY SUBSCRIPTION. Myrtle McCarger had a birthday present of a subscription yesterday that made her very happy. The race began on Myrtle's fourteenth birthday, and it's not too late to send her more subscriptions in celebration of the event. A big bunch of coupons would come in handy, too, and Myrtle could use them all right.

Minnie Pondrel turned in over 500 points and looks wise. Maybe she has more up her sleeve. Laughing Evelyn Oakley, the little South Pasadena miss, made a splendid start, and so did William Bolstad, who did not register at all till yesterday morning. Ignatius Parker, had only an hour or so to work, because he is kept busy in the store all day, but he made it count measurably to the interest taken in her by this multitude of friends. Several years ago, through the accidental discharge of a revolver, the left arm of the little girl was shot off. She is one of three children of the Rev. A. M. Prewitt, a popular Presbyterian minister, who has just answered a call to Westminster, being occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church at Lompoc for a number of years. Miss Merle has entered the Times scholarship contest in the hope of winning an Occidental College scholarship, and the friends of the Prewitts are each and all lending a hand toward her success. Merle is a natural student, a letter from the principal of the Lompoc High School, written to the scholarship manager, having been previously published in this department, in which she speaks in the highest terms of her attainments and her satisfactory work as a student. "She has always done excellent work," he says, "making in the subjects that she has carried the highest average given to any one in the school. She thinks clearly, applies herself closely, and, having unusual maturity of judgment, is sure to do well in whatever she undertakes. I unhesitatingly say that I know of no person more worthy to receive such a scholarship as you offer, or who would make a better or more appreciative use of opportunities presented to her."

PASADENA NEXT.

Vivian Bassett, the little Pasadena favorite who made such a telling record last year, ranks second this morning. It will be remembered that last year Vivian took first rank on the second day of the contest, and held it for nearly a week against all comers.

LOS ANGELES THIRD. Earl Robinson leads the boys, and makes third in the list today, and Esther Zuber is not far behind him, with 32 points less, while only eight points below Esther stands Grace Allen of Sausalito—the Soldiers' Home girl, and a favorite with the veterans. Fannie Wolff is but 225 points below while he was at St. James Fish was less than a hundred behind No. 15, and little Edith Farrell, next to the youngest in the flock, brought in an even 200.

It is a curious coincidence that the number who turned in points yesterday exactly corresponds with the number of special prizes offered out of the scholarships. None of the out-of-town contestants, except those from Pasadena and nearby towns connected by trolley with the city, were heard from, and when today's mail comes in some of the "high sixes" may have to give way to these country competitors.

DOUBLE LAST YEAR'S SCORE.

Comparisons are sometimes interesting, and a glance at the score for the first day of last year's contest shows that seventeen turned in their scores, and the sum total was only a little more than half the number of points made on this first day of the contest of 1906. Then there were exactly 1277 points turned in the first day, against 2,315 today.

One of the busiest places in town yesterday was the scholarship headquarters on the fourth floor of the Times building. Candidates began coming in as early as 10 o'clock in the morning to enroll. The first one to appear was William A. Bolstad, a bright-faced, blue-eyed lad wearing

Consumption Can Be Cured

The Preston antitoxine treatment for Tuberculosis is the only reasonable method. Who would think of using drugs in a case of Diphtheria in this intelligent age of medicine? This antitoxine for Consumption is equally as effective as that for Diphtheria. Patients notice improvement in from 5 to 10 days, and they continue to improve day by day until cured. If you have consumption at all, don't delay. Your case may be too far advanced to be cured now. Come and be examined at once, while there is still a chance for you.

the uniform of a bank messenger. He came to Los Angeles only a year ago from Chicago, where he had just completed the course in the high grade. He took up the Y.M.C.A. special course here in book-keeping and penmanship to prepare for a commercial position. Last March he entered the employ of the Security Savings Bank as a messenger, and now he seeks a scholarship in a business college where he may take a regular course in banking. That William is a young man of business is proven by the prompt way in which he proceeded to "get busy" as soon as he landed in Los Angeles a year ago, for he went right to work to help his friend, Robert Scott, who was in last year's Times scholarship campaign, to collect subscriptions and coupons, so William is not entirely without experience in winning points. AN OREGON NATIVE. The next applicant for a place among the racers was Miss Edna Wagner, a 12-year-old miss who will have a birthday on the first day of August, when she will enter the "twens." Edna was born in Oregon but came to Los Angeles when she was but seven months old. She has three older brothers and sisters, all in business in the same wholesale firm, and two younger ones. Her father is dead and she lives with her mother, brothers and sisters at No. 1213 Maple avenue. Edna attends the Sixteenth street school and is in the sixth grade. Harold McIntosh who was in the contest last year, came in yesterday and enrolled for the race of 1906. He wants a scholarship in the Los Angeles Military Academy this year and is going to try hard for it.

Jewel Deneshie, a slender, dark-eyed miss, who works in a local confectionery store also entered the ranks yesterday. She has finished High School and now wants a good business training in Boston. She lives at No. 437 Centennial street and, on account of being employed during the day will not have much time to solicit subscriptions.

APPLICANTS BY MAIL.

Application came by mail for Homer Watson of Westminster and for Miss Cecil M. Green running the list up to a total of fifty-four contestants.

URGE NO CUT IN THE RANGERS.

PASADENA ARGUE AGAINST REDUCED FORCE.

Orders issued by Department to Forest Supervisor Cause Storm of Protest—Telegrams Sent to Senator Flint Asking Him to Use His Influence to Have Order Rescinded.

Office of The Times, No. 28 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, June 22.—Associate Forester Flint of the United States Forest Department, has ordered Supervisor T. P. Lukens to reduce the force of forest rangers employed in the San Gabriel and San Bernardino forest reserves.

The action of the forester has raised a storm of protest here, as it is realized that a reduction in the force would be a serious menace to property in the valley.

The Board of Trade and the Merchants' Association have both sent telegrams to Senator Flint asking him to use his influence to have the order rescinded.

CITY BUSINESS. At the meeting of the City Commissioners this afternoon a resolution was passed asking the department to bid for 120 tons of hay for the use of the fire department.

City Clerk Dyer presented a request from the Council asking that the matter of locating a fire engine house on Main street and Locust street be reconsidered, as the residents of that section had raised an objection to having the stables so near their homes. The communication was placed on file. It was suggested that if the residents of the community would hold a meeting and elect a suitable location for the engine house, the commissioners would be glad to consider it.

FAIL TO APPEAR. Lester Barker, the young man who was picked up last evening suffering from an overdose of booze, and who claimed to have had his wallet and money stolen by a Mexican at Arcadia, did not appear for trial when his case was called in Judge McDonald's court this morning, so his $25 bail money was declared forfeited. The police did not put much faith in the robbery story, and concluded to wait until Barker had cleared up before making any investigation.

CONFISCATES MEAT. Sanitary Inspector Huddleston has confiscated 130 pounds of meat, which he found for sale in local shops, owing to the fact that it was not fit for human consumption. Inspector Huddleston intends to wage a fierce warfare on all unscrupulous butchers who insist on selling tainted meat, thereby endangering the lives of the public.

WOMEN SUBPOENAED. Marshal Reed this afternoon served subpoenas on Mrs. Porter, wife of the carriage driver at Hotel Green, and on Mrs. Jaxon, wife of the accused tailor. The women were called to the hearing of Jaxon tomorrow morning to tell what they know about the case. They are thought to be the women who bought the "puffer" with which Logan was killed, and if Marshal Reed is able to prove that they are, he will be able to clear up a good part of the mystery surrounding the case.

TOLD BRIEFLY. The contract for the Sprague Memorial Wing to the Pasadena Hospital has been let to C. N. Stanley of North Fair Oaks avenue. The wing, when completed, will be a much-needed addition to the hospital, as the institution is now taxed to its full capacity to handle the cases brought there.

John Henderson, the chauffeur who was driving the automobile which capsized at Colorado street and Orange Grove avenue Sunday morning, when Mrs. Codori was killed, is resting fairly comfortably at the Pasadena Hospital, where he was taken for treatment. At first it was thought that the man had not more than a few hours to live, but he has since rallied.

Manager Meyers of the Pasadena Baseball Club has decided to enter the Southern California League. There has been a desire for some time on the part of the other teams in the league to secure the Pasadena boys, but Meyers preferred to wait his own time before taking definite action. It is thought that being league players will give impetus to the already successful efforts of the local players.

Mrs. Seymour Locke entertained Thursday with an informal afternoon tea, for a company of Los Angeles friends, at her residence on South Grand avenue. The fête will be given by those who are interested in the starting of the new All Saints' Mission on Washington street.

A sequel to a pretty romance begun several years ago in the town of Perth, in Northern Scotland, culminated Saturday with a wedding in a bower of Southern California. The bride was Miss Helen Munro, and the groom was John Ramsey, both of this city, and the wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Larson, 1214 Westlake street.

INCUBUS ON CITY IS "BOSS" CRAIG.

UNION CZAR STRIKES BLOW AT SAN PEDRO'S BUSINESS.

His Real Attitude Toward Shipping Interests of Port Is Shown by Sending of Arrogant Dispatch to San Francisco Relative to What His Totemite Followers Would Do.

Office of The Times, No. 28 S. Raymond Ave.

SAN PEDRO, June 22.—"Boss" Z. W. Craig, walking delegate by profession, local receiver of the union warrent, and official greaser of the totem pole, on Saturday received the following telegram from the Pacific Coast Federation of Longshoremen, headquarters in San Francisco: "Let us know what your local union has decided to do as to working vessels carrying non-union crews."

With a fanciful opinion of his power and position, "Boss" Craig immediately wrote his pencil, and, having taken an invoice only of his own narrow-minded opinions and views, sent the following arrogant message in reply: "We decided that question five years ago—that we would not discharge vessels working non-union crews—and we are not likely to do so now."

The sending of this dispatch by Totemite Director-General Craig to San Francisco, and the special message, appointed by the Trustees, is well-nigh impossible to touch these special officers with the proverbial forty-four pole. Their brief tenure of broken bones and firearms makes it necessary for the ordinary citizen to address them in his own words.

James Weir, president of the Board of Trustees, and his associates, Messrs. Hill and Strommen, have announced their strong pro-union sympathies in the present controversy, which has driven hundreds of thousands of business men from this port.

These three men were elected by labor-union ballots, and although they get their salaries from corporations which are directly interested in the fight against the sailors' union, still they stand by the actions of these unions in their assault against the localities.

It was stated reliably and emphatically here today that in the cases of Weir, Hill and Strommen there is soon to be for them a radical re-education. Their radical self-expressed support of "Boss" Craig and the striking sailors is said to have met with the strong disapproval of their employers.

A LINE ON THESE MEN. Weir and Hill are employed by the San Pedro Lumber Company, of which corporation John A. Hooper of San Francisco is president. This corporation owns the steamer Santa Barbara and San Pedro, which are affected by the present troubles.

Trustee Strommen is employed by the L. W. Blinn Lumber Company, of which C. A. Hooper is president, and which owns the steamer Marshfield, which will not come here to discharge owing to the totemites.

C. A. Hooper has been here and in Los Angeles for a week, investigating the conditions. The Hoopers, who are among the largest lumber dealers on the Coast, are closely allied in a business and personal way with H. B. Hammon, president of the United Shipping and Transportation Association of San Francisco.

It would not be surprising to hear, upon the return of C. A. Hooper to San Francisco, that several minor heads, which have recently adorned local politics and supported the local sailors' union, had been cut off and were reposing serenely in the basket.

The large steamer Nome City, owned by Gray & Co. of San Francisco, and which has been lying idle at the San Pedro wharf since the beginning of the strike, succeeded in sailing today with a non-union crew in command of Capt. Hansen for San Francisco.

VERBAL ABUSE OF WRITER. About forty longshoremen and sailors congregated on the Salt Lake wharf when the vessel was ready to sail, but outside of addressing to the writer a series of insults, and terms of love and endearment as "scab," "liar" and "coward," no demonstrations of violence or interference was made.

Capt. Larsen, of the schooner Annie M. Campbell, was on the dock, and was requested by Mate Anderson of the schooner to leave the wharf. Objections were made by the congregated sailors, and Capt. Larsen refrained from throwing the line from the mooring.

The fifty feet of rope cast adrift was secured by the sailors as a trophy of war, the price being sold later to a junk man for the price of a bucket of beer.

Giving three loud, long blasts of defiance from the Nome City, she sailed out of the inner harbor on her way to San Francisco, and the totemites acknowledged their defeat.

FIRE BROUGHT DEATH. Monrovia Rancher Dies from Effects of His Fight With Flames—Place Was Highest in Valley.

MONROVIA, June 22.—"Joe" Varney, an eccentric Italian, who, nearly twenty years ago, purchased a forty-acre tract on the mountainside north of Monrovia, died last evening as the result of the injuries and shock sustained while endeavoring a few days ago, to extinguish a field fire which had started to clear his land.

The ranch was noted as having the greatest elevation of any in the San Gabriel Valley and was so precipitous that it was a constant source of wonder to the first vice-president, Mrs. J. H. Freeman, second vice-president, Mrs. Wyball, third vice-president, Mrs. Wood, secretary, Mrs. Harry Thomas, and a meeting will be held Friday at which donations will be received for the furnishing of the new home.

The High School play, "Mouse Trap," will be given tomorrow evening. A musical programme will precede the play.

A lawn fête will be given next Friday evening by the Women's Improvement Association for the benefit of the fountain fund. The fête will be held at the home of Mrs. T. W. Gillette on Fair Oaks avenue.

W. A. Gillette, Miss Lena Custer and Miss Bertha Moore have charge of the arrangements. The principal feature of the evening will be theatricals, fortune telling and a fish pond.

Mrs. M. A. Mace of Pasadena avenue has gone to Bellingham, Wash., to visit her son.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. High of Fremont avenue, accompanied by their son and daughter, will leave tomorrow to spend the summer in New York, Pittsburgh and other eastern cities.

Ernest C. Whipp of Palm avenue is employed in erecting an electric-light plant in Santa Ana. During the two months of his stay Mr. and Mrs. Whipp will camp in the cabin, thus combining business with pleasure.

STRICT ON DIVORCE. Friends' Yearly Meeting Holds to Advanced Ground on the Marriage Relation.

WHITTIER, June 22.—Hereafter Friends ministers who are in accord with their church discipline will perform the marriage ceremony for very few divorced persons. The attitude of the Friends church of California toward the divorce question was brought out this morning, when the session rejected the report of a committee which brought forward for consideration a bylaw forbidding any Friends minister to "perform a marriage ceremony where either party was a divorcee, unless they be the innocent party and the divorce be granted upon Scriptural grounds."

The meeting also repealed a bylaw adopted last year on the same general lines, falling back on the "General Discipline." A motion was then passed to instruct all ministers of the denomination to study this matter, and follow the discipline. The paragraph concerning the matter reads as follows: "The marriage relation is the most sacred of human engagements, and it is solemnly entered into for life. It must not be broken except upon the grounds of the Holy Scriptures. When this relation may be abused, so as to bring suffering upon innocent sufferers, the moral welfare of the individuals and the community requires that the sacred permanency of its obligations be maintained. The Scriptural, moral and legal obligations, and restrictions apply to husband and wife alike."

This afternoon and evening sessions have been given over to missionary reports from workers in the various fields and addresses by returned missionaries taking up most of the time. The sessions will close tomorrow.

PIERCES SAILORS' STRIKE. Steamer State of California Comes to Port Los Angeles With Non-Union Crew.

SANTA MONICA, June 22.—The freight and passenger steamer State of California, after a retirement of two weeks, enforced by the seamen's strike, is due to arrive at Port Los Angeles at midnight. She comes from San Francisco and brings a heavy cargo of freight. She will remain here all night discharging her burden and will sail tomorrow morning for San Diego. She is manned by a non-union crew and is expected to be followed after two days by the Santa Rosa.

REARHOSE RUMBLINGS. General Manager E. K. Calvin and Superintendent H. V. Platt of the Southern Pacific are here with their families for a brief outing by the sea, the former from San Francisco and the latter from Los Angeles. They are at home in their private cars, the Millamores and the Berkeley.

W. A. McPherson and T. A. Moody expect to enter the Pasadena race circuit with the automobiles and make the circuit around the lake with the Los Angeles and Southern California automobiles.

G. H. Hutton has returned after an absence of several days in San Francisco. He is expected to return to Humboldt, Iowa, to deliver the baccalaureate sermon at Humboldt College, which was founded by him. Mr. Taft was one of the town's pioneers, having located at Humboldt when the nearest railway was more than 120 miles distant. He is now past 60 years of age. He is located in the lying out of Sawtelle.

W. G. Beymer of Panamint, Pa., has been spending several days with old friends at the beach. He is accompanied by his wife, is spending some time on the beach. Their home is in Salt Lake City.

POMONA WILL POP. Arrangements Made to Celebrate the Grand Old Fourth—Barbecue and Auto Parade to Be Features.

POMONA, June 22.—Arrangements are well under way for the Fourth of July celebration to be held here. The parade will have a large automobile contingent, and the barbecue at Ganesha Park will be one of the genuine old-fashioned Spanish variety, with Tom Greene of Spadra as supervising caterer.

The Southern Pacific company will run a special train between here and the park all day, and athletic sports will be held in the afternoon. The "Chickadee" will be here from Los Angeles, with his airship, and in the evening there will be a grand ball and fireworks.

OTHER NEWS NOTES. President George A. Gates of Pomona College delivered a practical address before the members of the graduating class of the Pomona High School at the Congregational Church yesterday morning.

SILLY STRIKE SORRY FIZZLE.

Toten Bakers Out of Jobs and New Men Are In

Abundance of Bread to Fill
All Requirements.

Employers Stand Firmly for their Independence.

Walking delegates of the union bakers failed miserably yesterday to keep their threat to shut off the bread supply of Los Angeles in the event that the owners of baking establishments did not turn over the management of their plants to the totten bakers. The strike to force a boycott of Globe flour is a miserable fizzle.

The union stand taken by the master bakers has resulted in every loaf of bread needed being baked, and other products of their big ovens being turned out on time.

A large part of the force of the Meek Baking Company on San Pedro street, however, was a union shop to a great extent, walked out, but their action did not result in any loss to the Meek Company, for every other baking establishment in the city is running full-blasted, and immediately met the demand for the Meek company with any required amount of bread or pastry until they could secure the necessary force of men.

This promise in the delivery of the orders caused alarm among the laborers yesterday morning. They had expected to see the white flag up at the head of the Meek plant when men were reported for work, but instead the delivery wagons dashed away loaded from the plant.

The word passed among the totten bakers that the non-union bakeries of the city, in order to escape the delivery of any amount of bread, had come to the rescue of the Meek concern.

PICKET OPEN SHOPS.
It was impossible to ascertain from which plants the supplies were coming, and like rats scurrying in the dark, the union leaders started out to picket all suspected factories.

The first picket line upon was the plant of the Davis Standard Bread Company, which six months ago fought and won a battle with the labor trust, and has since operated its big plant untroubled.

Pickets were placed about the plant, and at the noon hour one of the bakers from the union entered the plant and began to talk strike. One of the officials heard of the fellow's presence and swooped down upon him, leading him to the door by the ear. A quiet admonition to stay away was sufficient, and afterward the totten bakers were scattered with leading near the bakery.

The officials of the company asked the police for protection, as the plant is located in a somewhat lonely section, and they feared the strikers might resort to violence during the night.

Then the word passed around that the big bakeries of the St. James Company were guilty of high treason in selling bread to the Meek company. The thugs immediately began to picket the St. James plant. This bakery has been and, in the language of the proprietor, always will be, an open shop.

The actions of the totten bakers at the St. James plant were confined to mingling among the workers at the noon hour and at getting time last night.

MORE GOOD JOBS LOST.
There was a little trouble when a few of the weak-minded workmen were wheeled into listening to the siren voices of the walking delegates and quit work. Their places were immediately filled with honest and independent men, who jumped at the chance to earn good wages.

The superior bakery on Spring street lost all of its men but two Saturday night, but yesterday saw practically a complete new force of bakers installed.

Yesterday afternoon the unionists gathered at the entrance to the Superior, and began to interrupt the customers entering the store. One of the men entered the place, and immediately the proprietor Peterson ejected him. Afterward the thugs remained on the opposite side of the street and talked the matter over between frequent pilgrimages to the bar of a nearby saloon.

A meeting of the Master Bakers' Association was held in the room of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association yesterday afternoon. The deliberations resulted in reaffirmation of the former stand that under no conditions would the members open negotiations with the totten bakers.

Arrangements have been made to place special officers at all of the bakeries throughout the city, and as fast as they are needed they will be sworn in.

A full quota of new bakers from the plant have been recruited and are already on their way to this city. They are expected to arrive by Wednesday night, and there will be more than enough of them to fill every vacant place.

The master bakers announce that too much importance is attached to the strike. Every plant in the city, with the exception of the Meek bakery, is running full-blasted and within twenty-four hours this plant will be operating a full force. In the meantime more bread is being produced than can be sold, and the big Meek concern can see it being offered by the independent, open-shop bakeries.

ANOTHER PIXLEY OPERA.
His Latest Work, "The Great Mogul," To Be Gorgeously Staged By Company of Stars.

Frank Pixley, the librettist, who travels the world over and calls any hat peg his home, but who loves Southern California best of all, has had "The Great Mogul," his latest opera, accepted by Klaw & Erlanger. The news of the contract was received yesterday by Mrs. Pixley, who is a guest at the Van Nuys and will occasionally pleasure to Mr. Pixley many Los Angeles and Pasadena friends.

The musical comedy, said by Klaw & Erlanger to be the best this lyric writer has ever produced, is the result of the recent trip of Mr. and Mrs. Pixley to Japan. "The Great Mogul" will be a magnificent pageant of oriental coloring and Hawaiian picturesque scenes, the costumes and stage settings having been gathered in fact or in complete idea during the foreign research. The libretto will overflow with humor, laugh with merit and score. The book of the opera was accepted on first reading and its premiere will take place in New York early in November.

Maud Lillian (Berri) (Mrs. Moulton) has been engaged as the prima donna and Frank Moulton, who displayed his talents so successfully in the "Sultan of Sulu," will be given full scope as leading man assigned to the title role in the new opera. The latter bit of news comes as a surprise owing to the legal tilt between Moulton and Henry W. Savage, which threatened to extinguish the brilliancy of Moulton's star.

Three acts will present "The Great Mogul," the first being a scene in Honolulu; an interesting voyage then lands the cast in Japan, where the comedy triumphs amid gorgeous setting.

Mrs. Pixley leaves tomorrow to join her husband in Chicago. While sanguine of the success of the new opera, she has little to say about it, the disclosure of new plots being treasured in anticipation. Mrs. Pixley denies that she is an impelling motif in the musical rhythm of her husband's success, but there are those who say that it is she who delivers into the junk shop of foreign countries, studies the courts of the great monarchs and smiles upon the lovely, that she may grasp the power of a situation. Mr. and Mrs. Pixley will spend the summer months in the Bahamas and on the southeast of New England. After the new production has been well launched, it is their intention to tour the Nile.

CONVENTION CALL.
Eighth District Congressional Delegates to Meet in Santa Ana on August Twenty-First.

The Eighth District Republican Congressional Convention will be held at Santa Ana on August 21, when a candidate for Congress will be nominated for the place now held by Congressman S. C. Smith of Bakersfield, who is serving his first term and who desires to return to Washington. So far, it is said, no active opponent has appeared.

The Eighth District includes the counties of San Diego, Riverside, San Bernardino, Orange, Santa Barbara, Ventura, San Luis Obispo, Kern, Inyo and Tulare. All but Ventura and San Diego were represented at the meeting. Aside from fixing the date and place for the convention, the committee, of which R. C. Harrison of San Bernardino is chairman, and Charles L. McGee of Bakersfield secretary, determined to make the representation of delegates the same as two years ago, or one to each 100 votes cast for Congressman at the preceding election. This will make a convention of 131 delegates.

"WHAT OTHERS THINK."
Salt Lake Road Gathering Nucleus of What Promises to Be Valuable Industrial Department.

T. C. Peck, assistant general passenger agent of the Salt Lake, is gathering the nucleus of what promises to be a valuable and far-reaching industrial department.

When the Salt Lake road was built through to Los Angeles it traversed what was popularly supposed to be a hopeless waste of desert. The railway brought transportation through this desert, and encouraging irrigation projects and colonization, has already stimulated a development of the agricultural and mineral resources of the country that is little short of amazing.

Tom Peck is father confessor of all the new colonists and pioneers in this region, and they write him hundreds of letters detailing their trouble, and their hopes and aspirations, besides occasionally giving him confidential pointers on how best to run his particular railroad department. Peck saves all these communications, and occasionally publishes the non-confidential in "What other think of us" series.

July 3 the Salt Lake will run a special Catalina train, leaving Los Angeles at 1:25 o'clock in the afternoon, and returning leaving San Pedro July 4 to connect with the special evening steamer from Avalon. And on July 4 there will be a special train to San Bernardino and intermediate points, leaving Los Angeles at 11 o'clock in the evening.

Commencing July 1, and every Sunday thereafter during the summer, the Salt Lake will run a special train from San Pedro to Los Angeles, leaving the port at 8:15 a.m. on the arrival of the special late boat from Avalon, and arriving in Los Angeles at 11 o'clock in the evening.

WHOLE FAMILY AT SCHOOL.
Kansas State Senator, His Wife and Daughter, All Are Pursuing Their Studies.

[Kansas City Star.] When the University of Kansas closes its doors for the summer vacation this week all the members of the family of State Senator C. I. Martin of Fort Scott, including Mr. Martin himself, were freed from their books. It is somewhat unusual for a man of middle age to go to school, but it is more so for a man to go and take his family with him, and this is what Senator Martin did.

Senator Martin is a junior in the law department of the university, and his wife is also a student in the law department. Their only child, Miss Lillian Martin, attends public school in Lawrence.

Before becoming a student in the university Mr. Martin was a farm hand, a county school teacher, a major in the army of the Philippines, a clerk of the District Court of Bourbon county, and is at present State Senator from that county. Deciding that a knowledge of the law would be of benefit to him, he came to Lawrence and entered the university, and his fellow students quickly made him president of the class. He was also president of the Republican Club of the university.

Senator Martin found time, in addition to all his other duties, to take an active part in every phase of college life and enters into the spirit of the university with as much zeal as the youngest freshman.

When Mrs. Martin came to Lawrence with her husband she had no intention of entering school, but the sight of so many others at their books determined her to study also. She is a graduate of the State Normal School in Fort Scott and taught school for several years before her marriage.

Don't select your home site before you see Athens. Go this week. Take this pretty trip down toward the sea to where the great sloping hill shoulders its way up three hundred feet at your feet, from this commanding hilltop. Here is the place to live, where the air is pure, the sea breeze always blowing—where you can see something. You'll agree—heartily, when you visit Athens.

Build Your Home on the Hill

Athens is being developed along lavish lines. Thousands of dollars are being spent to make this a model, park-like, suburban city. Nine miles of one hundred foot boulevards, with central parkways, now being built. Cement curbs and sidewalks now going in. Plenty of pure artesian water already developed. And in the work, recognition is taken of the natural beauty of this rolling land—every contour is taken advantage of, with the result that there is a view from every lot, which subsequent building operations cannot obstruct.

Athens is on the only hill between Los Angeles and San Pedro, six miles from this city, on the Gardena division of the Redondo line, paralleled at this point by the Interurban San Pedro line. A third line is now being built, affording a more direct route, and guaranteeing twenty minutes, or less, as the regular running time between Athens and Sixth and Main streets.

In point of time, Athens is nearer the business district of Los Angeles than many points within the city limits. Just far enough out—with the added advantage of nearness by car to San Pedro. Lots here are large, averaging one-third of an acre in size. And building restrictions are so carefully framed, that home builders at Athens are adequately protected. In spite of the comprehensive improvements planned and under way, the prices of lots at Athens are low—so low that buyers are assured a substantial increase in values at an early date. For a place to live, or for conservative investment, Athens offers every inducement. See it and judge for yourself.
